DREAMS MADE BY DRINK

A Prison Cell Became a Gorgeous Palace.

WITH MUSIC AND BRIGHT LIGHTS

The Police Kept Him Until the Hallucination of Drink Left His Clouded Mind And He Was Sorry He Had Come Back To Poor Old Mother Earth.

When Chief Gill unbarred the iron door, and with all the feeling he could put in his kindly voice informed Joseph Wolf that he was a free man, last night, the prisoner left the city hall with a feeling of sadness in his heart for he had been listening to sweetest music in the gloomy corners of his prison cell.

Wolf was brought to city hall on Monday suffering from the effects of a long debauch, and to the untrained eye of ordinary man was no better than if he had been dead. His muscles were useless and he was unconscious, being in ignorance of anything happening in his immediate vicinity. Seeing the condition of the man, yet fearing that he might suddenly regain control of his faculties, the chief locked him up and left him to himself. Several times Mayor Gilbert and other officials about city hall were called to glance in the jail by what seemed to be wild bursts of hilarity, and they wondered what had taken possession of the man. They realized that the delirium was upon him, but they could not understand that phase of the tremors; they had never heard of it before. When Wolf was released he explained it all.

Among the first things he remembers after being confined in jail was the presence of his old friends. They greeted him cordially, and then vanished. Their places were soon filled by a band of musicians, little men who played with the training of artists. They made what seemed to him the sweetest music he had ever heard, and he listened with rapt attention as piece followed piece. As he became interested the bare prison cell was transformed. Instead of the cold, hard lines of that severe architecture there appeared the beautiful curves and pleasant surroundings of a palace. High above his head was a balcony, a beautiful thing in which sat the beauty and loveliness he had known in his younger days. It was a scene he will not soon forget, and it made a profound impression upon his mind, since he related it down to the details for the benefit of the officers. After he had gazed upon the entrancing vision until well nigh bewildered with its beauty, he again heard the music, and found the midge band had taken even a better position. Again the cymbals clashed and the horns sounded, and again came that inspiring harmony that had first caught his ear. He listened attentively, and noticing a stir on the balcony found he was the center of all eyes. Some one had recognized him, and his name was being shouted aloud by the blazing beauty and gorgeous assemblage. Unable to endure their admiration he was compelled to bow his thanks, which was followed by loud exclamations of delight. This was very sweet to Joseph, and he dwelt upon it as long as possible, but he soon began to distinguish other words among the outcries. Obeying them as best he could he quickly removed his shoes, and began to dance, for that brilliant gathering had shouted to him that he was graceful, the beautiful dancer of the world. The noise of this proceeding roused Mayor Gilbert, who went to the bars and saw the prisoner prancing around on his bed as though mad. The mayor, remembering the condition in which he was found, left the poor fellow to himself, pitying the condition of any one who would prance about so wildly in such heat as prevailed yesterday. But Joseph needed no pity. He was enjoying the cheers and plaudits of the greatest assembly he had ever known, and he amused them until he fell exhausted on his bench, where he lay, weak and exhausted, until late in the afternoon his vision faded and he awoke to find himself the poor victim of a delightful delusion.

But that was not all. He had another experience, even more novel than the first dream of glory. Returning to his cell he found time hanging heavy on his hands, and determined to walk around. Seeing the door open he soon breathed the air of freedom, and looking across the hallway found a gambling game in full boom. In it he recognized some noted gamblers, and he watched the great stacks of gold and greenbacks change positions with pleasure. It was a big game, he thought, and he looked eagerly until one of the players turned his head, when he slunk back to his cell once more a prisoner. This hallucination was as wild as the other, since he was securely locked in his cell, and unable to see farther than the corridor. Taken as a whole, his is the most remarkable experience ever visited upon a prisoner at city hall. Many there have been who cursed and swore, and made night hideous by their wild ravings, while awful threats of vengeance have so often been hurled at the authorities as to cause them no alarm, but they never knew a prisoner to enjoy enforced confinement, as did Joseph. When he recovered his senses in the afternoon he seemed sorry to be recalled to a world where there was nothing such as he had seen in his dreams.

FOR CHATTANOOGA.

Company E Will Go South During Next September.

The present indications are that E company will go to Chattanooga the coming fall. The men are jubilant in consequence and are hustling in drill, in order to make a good showing when in the southland. The trip will be a delightful and instructive one. Recruits, men of the right kind, are making application for membership to Captain Supplee. A full turn out will no doubt be on hand tomorrow night, as the instructor wishes to push matters in drill movements. Two full sets of fours from Wellsville have made application to Captain Supplee for admission to the company. The applicants are first class young men, who would do honor to the organization. The commander prefers that the full membership should be taken from East Liverpool, but if the ranks are not filled in the very near future, the Wellsville boys will fill the vacancies. The lights will be turned on and drill will start to tomorrow night promptly at 8 o'clock in order that the boys can get out at 9 o'clock.

COUNCIL DID NOT MEET.

Only Three of the Faithful Gathered at City Hall.

For an hour last evening Councilmen Stewart, Challis and Peake chatted pleasantly at city hall with all who had anything to say, and for an hour Chief Gill, Chief Adam, Commissioner Welch, Mayor Gilbert and Clerk Hanley waited patiently for council to convene. Solicitor Clark and John Sant were also there, as was a delegation from the bicycle club. The council talked business and the others helped them along, but as the minutes flew by and the chance for a meeting grew less the conviction forced itself upon the assembly that council would do no business that night, and they finally walked leisurely homeward. A special will be held next week for the transaction of a stack of routine business, and to let the contracts for the proposed street paving.

A DANGEROUS WHEEL.

It Injured Doctor Toot and Then Threw Professor Gottschall.

Professor Gottschall arrived in town last night a sore man. In company with Doctor Jackman he was riding in the western part of the county when the handlebars of the bicycle turned, and he went over a hill. When measured the distance showed 15 feet, and the professor decided he was hurt enough to warrant the use of a buggy. He was brought to Wellsville and came home on the street car. The shoulder was dislocated, and the sweet singer was painfully bruised. The wheel used was the one which broke Doctor Toot's collar bone on Fifth street, and the professor's injury is on the same side of the body. The superstitious would imagine that wheel hoodooed.

ICE CREAM FELL

When the Horse Went on a Rampage and Turned a Corner.

The horse attached to the buggy owned by John Hulmes ran off on Calcutta road about 5:30 o'clock yesterday evening, and when it stopped there was at least one cool spot in East Liverpool.

The driver could not stop the horse and turned him into Grant street. Then the vehicle upset and a quantity of ice cream was scattered about promiscuously. The wagon was damaged considerably but the driver and horse were uninjured.

THE OTHER SIDE.

A Lady Tells of That Trouble on the Sixth Street Switch.

A lady who was a passenger on the car from which a drunken man was thrown at the Sixth street switch yesterday, called at this office today, and severely censured the motorman, saying that he used needless severity, and had the man been killed she would have had the motorman arrested for murder. She said there was no need to handle the man as he did.

THEY ALL WANT A VOTE

The W. C. T. U. Plan of Work Has a Franchise Clause.

THE RESOLUTIONS AS PASSED

Contain Several Important Declarations. Teach the Children—A Journalistic Movement in Connection With the Educational Branch.

When the county convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union was held in this city last week the committees on credentials and plan of work failed to make this report, and it is here given.

Resolved, That we may expect blessing on our work in proportion as we keep closely on our foundation, Christ Jesus, seek his counsel, and follow obediently and courageously, as the Holy Spirit may lead in the various lines of work, all centered in his charge "Love of God and man."

Resolved, Our union should keep practically in mind, that the boys and girls of today will soon be the men and women for future work, and we must now see to it that our influence in this time of seed sowing shall not be lost, but used to help them become strong, and true for service in God's vineyard. We ought to utilize the instruction our kind friends have procured in gaining us the object lesson, of clay washed, and made ready for the potters' wheel, the close care and watchfulness needed that nothing mars the perfect work until the design of the master workman is perfected; also it is our duty to encourage the young people early to take their place in the ranks of workers.

Resolved, That as we have a right in school suffrage, we should inform ourselves, and use that right in the way which will best educate the youth for the citizen; also use our influence that voting may become a power for good, and not for evil.

Resolved, That we deem it inconsistent with Christ's law of love to God and man, that we should encourage in any way "boys' brigades," or military instruction in schools.

Resolved, That the press is one of the mightiest educational forces of the present age, and it has been from the day of its birth a part of the working creed of the Women's Christian Temperance union, hence it is resolved, that we as local unions seek permissions to edit a column in every newspaper in our county, and in all possible ways enlist the press in this reform. That we recommend that our unions devise some method of circulating the union signal and our state paper, the Women's Christian Temperance Union Messenger, published at Cleveland, O., among all the members of the union, that each one may know about all the lines of this temperance reform, and also receive instruction as to the best methods of work.

Resolved, Light has been given us in this convention on Godly paths of temperance, peace, purity and usefulness, in the completeness of the family, in father, mother, brothers and sisters, the one law of God, for each, and the duty of each to keep that law, thus promoting the highest good to all, therefore it shall be the duty of the corresponding secretary to transmit to our local unions such resolutions and plans of work as may seem proper to adopt. That these meetings may contribute to help our membership in the individual and united work for the uplifting of mankind to the divine plan by sharing with them these benefits.

Resolved, That we extend our hearty thanks to the Women's Christian Temperance union, and friends of East Liverpool, for their generous hospitality, and entertainment, and to Professor Sanor, for his cordial welcome in behalf of the citizens of East Liverpool. Also to the young men who expressed in song such beautiful thoughts, that we must first get nearer to God, and then He will give us strength to help the saloons go.

MISS MARIA STANLEY,
Chairman of Committee.

The plan of work strongly urges the education of children to the movement, and where possible bands of mercy should be conducted, while scientific temperance instruction is also suggested. The distribution of temperance literature at county fairs is recommended, and the importance of holding weekly meetings is pointed out. The Mother's Friend, national paper of the order is also recommended, and it is asked that all the light possible be brought to bear on the departments of peace, legislation and petitions. The franchise department is also to be attended to, and they want the ballot for the women fully discussed. Local superintendents are asked to forward reports to the county superintendent without waiting to be notified, and delegates are urged to learn the names of county officers.

CAN'T MOVE IT.

That Derrick is Still in the Diamond Ugly as Ever.

The derrick which is causing so many hearty kicks from business men and the public, continues to disgrace the Diamond but it may be taken out tomorrow.

Commissioner Welsh began to move the thing away the other evening, but Attorneys Clark and Hill, who are interested in the case because their clients are contesting for its possession warned him that he would do it at his own risk. Solicitor Clark said it was there by process of law, and he could not see how he could order it removed. If it was removed by the city the city would have to be responsible for any broken parts. Then Chief Gill heard the clamor about the derrick, and decided to have it moved. He complained to Constable Lyon who told him to go to the solicitor who in turn asked him who he was going to sue. As the chief didn't know he was compelled to retire from the conflict. Constable Lyon explained that he only had charge of the boiler, and obligingly offered to unscrew that if any one wanted to move the remainder of the rig, but no one seemed anxious to grasp the opportunity. Commissioner Welsh said last night he would have the thing taken away, but to a late hour this afternoon he had entered no complaint at the mayor's office.

MORE SETTLEMENTS.

Trials Are Unheard of About City Hall These Hot Days.

There are no new cases at city hall today, and Mayor Gilbert has no other business than to look after settlements.

Mrs. Simpson came in and after paying the costs in the little bill the mayor handed her, decided that all would be well.

The man Smith who knocked his wife down in an alley will also escape without a trial, as an effort is being made to settle it. He will appear tonight and hear a few words of advice from the mayor.

The only other litigation on hand is the charge against Job Dawson for maintaining a nuisance, and that may be settled, although there is a doubt, as the authorities may prosecute.

LOOKING FOR A RISE.

Rivermen Are Waiting Patiently But None Is In Sight.

The river is little more than a flashing thread of water these days, and rivermen are hoping that rain will soon fall in the mountains. Rivermen have not yet given up hope of seeing a rise, for they think if the June freshet is delayed much longer there will be no more high water until fall. When a rise does come it will take an immense amount of water to fill the river to a boating stage. The ground is hot and dry and will drink up vast quantities before there is any for the stream.

LOOKS LIKE A GO.

Many Subscriptions For the Spring Grove Telephone.

Manager Frank Swaney went to Spring Grove last night with telephone in his eye, and before the evening was at an end he had 22 names on the little paper which he carried around so carefully. As the company only ask 25 subscribers to sign the paper there is a strong probability that the required number will be obtained. The necessity of telephonic communication with the city was clearly seen when an accident occurred last week.

A VALUABLE BUNDLE.

Old Papers Printed in the Early Part of the Century.

When T. L. Potts returned the other day from Salineville he brought with him a valuable collection of old papers, the file of a Cadiz paper in 1822. The papers are interesting because they contain matter that was good news three-quarters of a century ago. Mr. Potts also brought with him a number of quill pens which his father, who had perfect command of the English language, and wrote a great deal, always used.

REGIE WILL RACE.

The Liverpool Racer is Entered Among Swift Ones at Beaver.

At least one Liverpool horse will endeavor to win for its owner some of the prizes at the Beaver races this week.

Will Dickey has entered "Regie," who has already made a name and the trotter is now in the 2:25 class. "Regie" will race on Friday next and a number of East Liverpool people will see the races at the time.

HOLBROOK IS HONEST

The Chief Engineer of the New Electric Line Talks.

A DIFFICULT ROAD TO BUILD

There Are Many Obstructions In the Way. Hills Are High and Valleys Are Deep. It Will Take Almost a Month Before the Report Is Finished.

It costs money and requires brains to build electric roads, and if these were the only requisites the Liverpool-Lisbon line would soon be a reality, but they are not, and the company now have a surveying party in charge of Engineer E. Holbrook working to discover just what they need.

Mr. Holbrook was resting when a reporter called on him last evening at the Hotel Anderson, but with the courtesy of men engaged in his profession he unhesitatingly threw his rest aside, and talked entertainingly of the project.

"There are eight men in our party," said Mr. Holbrook, "and we are going over the old line they call the Erie route. It has not all been a bed of roses by any means, and I am not prepared now to tell whether this is the most feasible line of the several we have in mind. That will come later when the work is done, and we can compare the result of the different surveys. I am working under instructions to survey this one line, and at present we are giving it all our attention. Some people have their ideas on these things, but when it comes to placing these ideas in definite form it is not the easiest thing in the world. In fact it is very difficult, as unlooked for obstructions are forever making their presence known. This route is a hard one and the country a difficult one in which to build railroads. The hills are high, making deep valleys, and the streams are as crooked as any you can find. In selecting a route for a road these things are always taken into careful consideration, as upon them depends in a marked degree the cost of construction. I find the farmers anxious to see the line put through. They want it built, and watch us carefully as the lines are run through their farms. They look upon the road as a very good thing for them, and right there they are right; but I do not think they will contribute a great deal to the support of the line when it is finished. The intermediate country will not provide a great deal of business, but I think Lisbon and Liverpool will do their share. I don't know anything about the line beyond Lisbon, as we have no instructions to work farther than the county seat. All the rough country is on this side of Lisbon, and it is there we will meet with engineering difficulties. Beyond Lisbon we have the railroad to follow to Salem, and can tell a great deal about the country from the topography along that line. I think the prospect for business from Lisbon is very good, and the road will get a goodly share of what goes out of that place. Judging from what I have seen I am also led to believe that the hills along the line contain materials that can be used in the manufacture of pottery. Particularly is this noticeable toward Lisbon where the signs seem very plain. I don't know whether the company, should the line be built, will go to Salem, but I do know that we are doing no work on the other side of Lisbon. We will be here for a week or 10 days, and a portion of that time will be spent in the city and its immediate vicinity. We have not yet decided on an entrance to Liverpool or Wellsville, but it will be by no means the easiest part of the work. So many things have to be considered that taking a railroad into a town must always be carefully weighed, and due preparation made for the possibilities of the future. No exact time has been set for the final report, but it will probably require three or four weeks. We want to get through as soon as possible, but no part of the task will be slighted in order to make time. We propose to test the thing thoroughly, and see just what there is to be deducted from the facts shown by the survey. My opinion is that six or eight months would be required to build the road as it is proposed."

Mr. Holbrook knows his business, and is an engineer of broad experience. He was for many years in the employ of the Baltimore & Ohio at Pittsburgh having charge as superintendent of the Wheeling and Cumberland divisions. There will be no mistakes in this survey, and it will bring out the long expected answer where there is enough traffic between Liverpool and Lisbon to warrant the great cost of construction. In a month we will all know it.

If the Democrats can do no better than they have been doing these last few weeks their cherished six year
hoodoo has lost its charm.

A NEW system of street cleaning
should be inaugurated in East Liverpool. The paved streets are filthy where they should be the cleanest on the river.

SPAIN is mad because Columbia is smiling upon the struggling patriots of Cuba, but the old woman over the sea will be madder than ever when the sweet faced goddess folds these same patriots to her bosom.

The business man who can get along without advertising is the business man who cares not for the advancement of the town. No town can move without a newspaper, and no newspaper can live without advertising.

THE Youngstown Telegram is among the best afternoon papers in Ohio, but like all other well conducted journalistic mills it has its troubles.
Last evening it published an elaborate account of the marriage of Princess Helena of Orleans and Duke Emanuel deAosta, with a cut of each. Now this would have been all right, and the Telegram's readers would have been satisfied had not some careless printer changed the lines and made the haughty duke appear above the name of his royal wife.

SOME STATESMANSHIP.

The saddest day of President Cleveland's life was when he awoke to find the new tariff law ready for his signature, and like a little man he produced the pen scratches which made the measure operative. Since then the president has been in hot water, and as if to have company he has drawn Secretary Carlisle into the steaming fluid. Poor fellows, how they have worked and labored to gather enough money to keep the business of the government going.
How they have planned and schemed
to cut down the pension list in order to save a few dollars there, and how they have plotted and thought to find money for actual expenses. The loss of revenue because of the low tariff has made their lives a burden, and methods as mean and miserly as could be imagined have been instituted.
The latest play is against the postal service. Knowing that money must come from some source, and realizing that any curtailment would bring down popular indignation upon their already sore and aching heads, they have sent out spies to dog the footsteps of letter carriers, and report the result in order to show that employes are not working hard enough. If this could be done they might drop a carrier here and there, and use the money formerly paid him to dump into the great hole made by the revised tariff.
If this be the broad thought of brainy statesmen, then the statesmanship of Cleveland and Carlisle is unquestioned.

FLOOD OF THE NILE.

THE GREATEST EVENT OF ALL THE YEAR AT CAIRO.

Impressive Ceremonies at the Cutting of the Bank to Allow the Water to Flow Into the Canal—The Ancient Nilometer
on the Island of Roda.

The tourist who only comes to Egypt to shun "winter and foul weather" knows nothing of the majestic glories of the Nile flood. The ancient Nilometer at the south end of the island of Roda, just above Cairo, is one of the most interesting sights of the place. The water entering from the river by a culvert into a well about 18 feet square, with a graduated stone pillar in the center. On each side of the well is a recess about 6 feet wide and 3 feet deep, surmounted by a pointed arch, over which is carved in relief a Kufic inscription, and a similar inscription is carried all around the well, consisting of verses of the Koran.
A staircase goes down the well, from the steps of which the initiated may read
the height of the water on the pillar, but they are few in number, and the hereditary sheikh of the Nilometer, whose duty it is to keep the record, is a person of some importance. The Nilometer dates from A. D. 861, and I believe in the archives of Cairo may be found the daily record for 1,000 years.

I need hardly tell you that when our English engineers took the river in hand we established a number of gauges at Wadi-Halia, Assuan, Cairo and many other points on more scientific principles than the venerable Nilometer of the Roda island.

After the river has begun to rise its height is daily chanted through the Cairo streets until it reaches 16 cubits
on the gauge. At this point the Khalig el Maari, the old canal that flows through the heart of Cairo, is opened—up to this point it is dry, and full or empty it is little more than a sanitary abomination
at present, but in former days it occupied an important place, and when the Nile water was high enough to flow down its bed it was looked on that the flood had fairly set in, and that the kindly fruits of the earth might be duly expected.

The head of this canal is on the right bank of the river, just south of Cairo.
The water enters a channel some 30 feet wide, with a high wall on its left and a sloping bank on its right or southern flank. The water then flows under the pointed arch of an old stone bridge. The bed of the canal is cleared so that it would flow in at a gauge of about 14 1/2
cubits, but an earthen bank is thrown across it about four feet higher.

There is no more interesting ceremony in Egypt than the annual cutting of the khalig, as the opening ceremony is called. It takes place between Aug. 5 and 15. Days before preparations are made for the festival. Tents with innumerable lamps are placed along the wall
on the one side. Frames for all manner of fireworks are erected on the sand bank on the other side. All the notables are there in full uniform or in canonicals.
The khedive himself or his representative, the Sheikh ul Islam, the highest dignitary of the Mohammedan faith; the Sheikh el Bekri, the Sheikh el Sadat,
all the learned scribes of the great university of the Azhar, the cabinet ministers and under secretaries, the sirdar of the army and his staff, the judges and the financiers.

The Egyptian troops are turned out, salutes are fired, and about 8 o'clock in the warm summer night the classes all assemble under the gayly lighted tents, the masses crowd round the frames for the fireworks, the street is lined with figures, though it is not much that they can see from their broughams. Out in the river just opposite the canal's mouth is moored an old hulk of a certain sea-going outline, which has been towed up from Bulak during the day and is an emblem of the time when the great republic of Venice sent an envoy to witness the ceremony. This boat is full of lamps, and fireworks too. As the night deepens the excitement increases. The populace on the bridge and opposite bank are shouting, yelling and dancing
wildly round the fireworks.

On the other side are the gay uniforms and lighted tents, from which we can look over the wall down on the dark water, where you see brown figures plunging in and, waist deep, digging with their hoos at the embankment that blocks the canal's mouth. Long before midnight the fireworks have gone out
and left the splendid stars to themselves;
the grandees have all gone to bed, but the people keep up the revelry, and in the morning, by 7-30, every one has come back. Then but little of the bank is left uncut, and a few more strokes of the big hoos will do it, and the brown skins and brown water reflect the bright sunlight from above. Then the Sheikh ul Islam solemnly thanks the Almighty,
Allah the all powerful, the all merciful.

Always on Time.

Washington had many admirable traits
worthy of imitation, and one of them was rigid punctuality. This was well illustrated by an incident during his visit to Boston 100 years ago. Having appointed 8 o'clock in the morning as the hour at which he should set out for Salem, he mounted his horse just as the Old South clock was striking that hour.
The company of cavalry which was to escort him did not arrive till after his departure and did not overtake him till he had reached Charles river bridge.—

THE "DEVIL'S MOOSE."

A Gigantic Flesh Eating Plant That Is Found in Nicaragua.

Carnivorous plants are certainly among the curiosities of the vegetable world. The poetical and religious Linnaeus, who had occasion to study the fly catching peony, found, in his astonishment, no other name to bestow upon it than this—Miraculum naturae (prodigy of nature). Since the illustrious Swedish botanist, the mechanism of carnivorous plants has been well studied, and particularly by Darwin, who has devoted to these plants a remarkable work. They are usually of small dimensions, and do not attain the size of one described in the "Bolletino del Naturalista."

M. Fabiano Carlo tells there of a gi-gantic carnivorous plant that has been discovered on the shores of Lake Nicaragua by a naturalist named Dunstan.
He discovered this curious plant in the following manner: Traveling with his dog, he heard the animal give vent to cries of pain. He advanced and found his dog held by three black, sticky bands,
under which the skin was chafed till it bled. These bands were the branches of a new carnivorous plant, which Dunstan calls the "land octopus." The branches are flexible, polished, black, without leaves, secreting a viscous fluid and furnished with a great number of suckers
by which they attach themselves to their victims. It might almost be believed to be an octopus transformed into a plant.

To extricate his dog Dunstan tried to cut the branches, and succeeded, though not without difficulty, and after having his hands severely injured by the tentacles of the "land octopus." As may be realized, observations under these conditions were not convenient to make,
and the naturalist was able to get few facts concerning this odd plant. He proved the presence of numerous suckers, and found that the fetid odor of the black sticky fluid that covers the branches serves to attract prey to the plant. He also was able to note similarity of character with other carnivorous plants.
For instance, the "land octopus" aban-dons its prey after having sucked out the nutritive elements. The natives of Central America call this singular plant by the appropriate name of "the devil's moose."—Paris Cosmos.

Famous Living Pictures.

"Living pictures" cannot be called an invention of "these modern days" since it is claimed that they were first employed by Mme. de Golinis for the purpose of educating the Duc d'Orleans' children, whose governess she was. With the help of several famous artists she arranged pictures of historic scenes which ladies of the French court posed for.—Ladies'
Home Journal.

ROYAL
BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 100 Wall St., N. Y.

THE STRONGEST COLLEGE MAN.

Nash of Tufts and His New Total Strength Record of 3,547.76 Pounds.

The strongest man in college today seems to be Henry R. Nash of Tufts college. He recently succeeded not only in breaking the Tufts record, which he made last fall, but he also outdid Klein, the Harvard strong man, by 440 pounds.

Had not the lifting machine broken while he was making the leg lift he would without doubt have greatly exceeded that number. As it was, it was necessary to credit him with an inferior lift made some time before.

Klein's total strength, according to Dr. Sargent's system of measurements, which is in use in most of the New England colleges, was 3,187 pounds. The total which Nash ran up under the same system was 3,547.76 pounds. Not long ago Henry W. Lane, the Sunday of Ansonia college, made a total strength record of 3,833 pounds, which on its face is a much better performance than that of Nash, but it is said that the record made by Lane cannot be admitted on the ground that he did not confine himself to the limited time allowed for the examination, but took the different tests at intervals. If this be true Nash is the strongest collegian in America.

Nash looks every inch the strong man that he is. He is 24 years old, and his home is in Haverhill, Mass. Since he entered college two years ago he has been closely identified with athletics. In his freshman year he played substitute in the varsity football team, and in his sophomore and junior years he had little difficulty in getting on the team as a regular player, his position being left tackle.

His strength is natural to him, although it is in a measure to be attributed to his interest in athletics and to the excellent training he has received in swinging the broadax at his trade of shipbuilder, which he followed for some years prior to entering college. He entered on the engineering course, but intends to change next year and take special work instead.

WITH THE LONG POLE.

Collegian Culver Is One of the Best Vaulters in America.

A clever young pole vaulter, who seems almost agile enough to travel in the best athletic company in the country, is Alvin H. Culver of Northwestern university. He broke the western intercollegiate record in pole vaulting at the triangular meet of Chicago, Lake Forest and Northwestern universities not long ago with a vault of 10 feet 5 1/2 inches, and still more recently at the annual championships of the Western Intercollegiate Athletic association succeeded in overcoming the force of gravity still further by making the somewhat remarkable vault of 10 feet 9 inches. It is further said that he has done an even 11 feet in practice. At the American Intercollegiate Athletic association's championships near New York recently Bucholtz of Pennsylvania and Hoyt of Harvard each vaulted 11 feet 2 1/2 inches, breaking the intercollegiate record.

Culver was a senior in the Northwestern university law school and has just been graduated from that institution. He was born in Chicago in 1878 and was graduated from the preparatory department of Northwestern university at Evanston at the age of 16. Then he entered the college of liberal arts. After graduating from that department he entered the law school in 1898.

During his senior year in college Culver began training in athletics. Since then he has made remarkable records in pole vaulting and running and has but once been beaten in the pole vault. Last fall Culver received a severe injury in a football game, and since then has been unable to run. At the athletic exhibitions held during the World's fair he took second prize in the pole vault.

THREE BOAT CREW CAPTAINS.

Troy of Cornell, Prentice of Columbia and Bull of Pennsylvania.

It would be difficult to find three more experienced college oarsmen than the captains of the Cornell, Columbia and Pennsylvania crews in the great tri-cornered race of June 21. J. H. Prentice, the Columbia captain, held a similar position on the freshman crew that defeated both the Yale and Harvard freshmen in 1891. He is an unusually fine specimen of physical development, standing six feet high and weighing 178 pounds. He is 20 years old. He pulls No. 2 in the boat.

Alfred E. Bull, the captain of the Quaker crew, hails from Wilkesbarre, Pa. He is a '96 dental man and is 26 years old.

J. H. PRENTICE.
H. C. TROY.
ALFRED E. BULL.

As an all round athlete he can hardly be excelled, his record as a football player being particularly brilliant. His work as center rush in the University of Pennsylvania's football team last year evoked much admiration.

In 1893 Bull was stroke of the famous Atlanta crew, which wound up a year's unbroken record by winning the championship at the national regatta at Detroit. He also stroked last year's Pennsylvania crew and was unanimously elected its captain on the resignation of Otto Wagenhurst. Bull stands 5 feet 10 1/2 inches high and weighs 166 pounds.

The captain of the Cornell crew is H. C. Troy. He is one of the finest and most experienced oars at Ithaca and was one of the first men to be chosen for the Henley crew. The strict interpretation by the English rowing men of the word "amateur," however, debarred Troy from the Henley boat, he having earned money during vacation time by manual labor.

A TIRELESS ROAD RIDER.

F. M. Dampman, Who Recently Covered 150 Miles in 10 Hours 43 Minutes.

One of the pluckiest and most powerful and enduring road riders among the bicyclists of the country is F. M. Dampman of Philadelphia, who recently made such a remarkable run from New York to Philadelphia in the great tri-state relay race. His wonderful record of 10 hours and 43 minutes for 150 miles is without an equal for the distance, and he finished as fresh as a daisy.

The race was a team contest between representative road riders of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. There were six men on each team, each state having a representative in every relay. Thus each man rode 25 miles, the entire distance being 150 miles. Dampman, however, started with the first relay, rode over the entire course of the race and was not caught by the fresh riders until the last relay was begun. Dampman was in excellent condition when he finished and rode the last half mile on the track at a 2:30 gait. Once during the journey his tire was punctured. He dismounted and repaired the tire and then rode on again. None of the men who started with him kept up the race, all dropping out before Trenton was reached. Among these men were A. W. Fuller of Brooklyn, W. L. Darnier of Jersey City, Thomas Ward of New York, Alfred C. Green of New York and Frank Waller, the professional.

The all round championships of the Amateur Athletic union will be held at the New Jersey Athletic club grounds, Bergen Point, July 4. The events are the 100 yard run, putting 16 pound shot, running high jump, 880 yard walk, throwing 16 pound hammer, pole vault for height, 120 yard hurdle race, throwing 56 pound weight for distance, running broad jump and one mile run.

Wood Paving.

A nonslipping wood pavement has been recently devised which is claimed to be simple, inexpensive and efficient. It consists in preparing the wooden blocks before they are laid by boring a few holes in them and filling the same with a hard setting substance composed of crushed stone, bitumen and Portland cement. The compound is cleared off even with the surface, and when they are laid the roadway is thus covered with a series of rough spots which arrest the foot of the horse in all conditions of weather, and prevent the animal from slipping. Wood paving is extensively used in England and France. —Northeastern Lumberman.

Division of the Sexes.

One of the most remarkable churches is to be found at Freudenthal, in the Black Forest. It is built on such a plan that the men are unable to see the women, and vice versa, for it is composed of two wings, which meet at an angle where the pulpits stand. The right wing is allotted to men, and the left one to the women of the congregation. —Berlin Letter.

Right He Was.

"Now," began the orator, "in considering the money question, let us avoid false issues."

"Right you air," shouted Mr. Fall-wheat. "I thort I was buyin $3,000 of 'em once, and it turned out to be saw-dust." —Indianapolis Journal.

Man is the merriest, the most joyous of all the species of creation. Above and below him all are serious. —Addison.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Favorite tent, Rechabites, is fast becoming the largest body in the city. Its list of members has passed the 200 mark.

The work of tearing down the old white church in the rear of the Methodist Protestant edifice is almost complete.

The Liverpool Reds and the Second Street Gyms have secured the West End grounds for a game tomorrow afternoon.

That West End plug, for which Councilman Peake was so stubbornly fighting, was put in position today and water turned on.

Henry Harvey, jiggerman at Burfords, is confined to his room at the Hotel Grand with an attack of erysipelas, which affects his face.

The lawn fete at the North Side chapel last night attracted a large crowd, and many were the people provided with the dainties on sale.

Mrs. Dr. Marshall, who has been lying at her home in East End seriously ill with neuralgia of the stomach, is slightly improved but is not recovering rapidly.

The circle beat the row in the ball game at Spring Grove last night the score being 11-6. It was the hottest game of the season, and the circle was out for buckets of blood, and got them.

The young people of the Second Methodist Episcopal church gave an enjoyable entertainment in the church last evening, a fair attendance making the event a financial success as well.

Reverend Green entertained about 15 of his young gentlemen friends at his home in East End last night and the party spent a most enjoyable evening amid games, music and disposing of elegant refreshments.

The witnesses in the Nelson case are appearing in droves at city hall these days wanting their fees. The amount will have to come before council in proper form and the witnesses will be compelled to wait until the meeting of claims committee next month.

The replevin case of John Childs, Smith's Ferry, against Mrs. Helena Farmer, will be tried at city hall tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock by Squire Rose and the following jury: L. M. Thomas, Smith Fowler, F. S. Albright, S. J. Martin, Joseph Turnbull, Col. W. H. Vodrey.

Last April the electric light company shut off the light at the saloon of Ebberstein & Bernstein, and brought suit against the concern because the bill was not paid. In the court of Squire Rose yesterday the defendants confessed judgment to a little less than the amount.

A member of the Rechabites is now the subject of a joke and is patiently awaiting the next issue of the Silver Cord in order to sue that paper for libel. The report that he used several bottles of "anti-stiff" after passing through the second degree of the order, is pronounced false.

An important meeting of the militiamen will be held in the armory after drill at the rink Thursday evening, when the election of first lieutenant will take place. There is but one candidate mentioned so far. The examination of Sergeant Johnson for second lieutenant has not yet been heard from.

The patrol wagon and outfit can be moved to central fire station at any time. The horses will have to wait, however, until the wire screens for the doors of the stalls arrive. The screens are expected tomorrow and the change will then be complete and everything in readiness for the owner of the patrol station to claim his property and take it away.

According to the official crop report for Columbiana county wheat is filling well, some of the frozen that was given up as lost again heading out and giving promise of a yield. Corn, oats and potatoes are doing much better than was expected, and meadows and pastures are very short, but freshened. Some clover is being cut, and presents a better crop than was expected.

The NEWS REVIEW newswies defeated the Crisis boys on the West End grounds yesterday afternoon by a score of 26-9, making three straight games for our boys. They had four home runs, and played a good game. They have two more games booked, and are happy as the day is long. The boys refute with indignation the charge of the Crisis boys that they call in outside help. The NEWS REVIEW club is made up of NEWS REVIEW boys.

There were bugs and bugs in town last night, and the way they played about the are lights on the streets and the incandescent lights in the houses was remarkable to behold. There were big bugs and little bugs, bright bugs and dark bugs, and bugs of every shape and form. Some had horns, others were blessed with numberless feet, and some more fortunate than their fellows had wings which dazzled the eye, and reflected in the bright glare of the lights all the colors of the rainbow. It was a great night for bugs.

WELLSVILLE.

WHO WINS?

There Will Be Dissenting Votes At Tomorrow's Election.

When the contending sides line up for battle tomorrow there will be a showing of strength on the part of each for they are not all in favor of a bond issue. A reporter talked with a large number of property owners and found that almost all were in favor of a bond issue, but the majority were opposed to spending money on the old plant. It would be worse than useless, they think, to fix up the old piles of scrap iron into shape for running a little while when the money can be applied to a much more profitable purpose by constructing a new reservoir and building an improved system. The plan to have water supplied by East Liverpool also meets with favor, but not much. They have not been educated to that, and freely admit that it might be a good thing. The election will be conducted under the Australian system, and there will undoubtedly be an effort to defeat the bond issue on the ground that the money should be used in a different way.

WAR IN THE WEST.

A Pair of Strangers Could Not Agree and Were Arrested.

Joseph O'Brien and John Chester were the names given by a pair of strangers when they were arrested at the lower end of Main street yesterday afternoon. One carried a satchel and the other a bucket, and they declared in loud and exultant cries that they were the best men in town. At length they began to quarrel, and the police walked them to city hall. O'Brien said his home was in Lancaster, Pa., and Chester claimed to own Makony, in the same state, as his home. The two presented a woe begone appearance as they wandered down the street.

A BIG TIME.

The Railroad Men Want the Best Picnic Ever Held.

As stated in this column yesterday the date for the railroad picnic was set as Aug. 10, and the arrangements left in the hands of the committee. The men selected have good judgment, and the employees expect one of the best picnics ever held by the company. Last year the gloom of hard times had settled down on everyone, but now there is a better feeling, and it is generally believed the attendance will be large, and the day one of exceptional pleasure.

More Bums.

Three train bums were brought into city hall last night, and at the hearing this morning were each fined $5 and costs. They were put out on the streets, and when they get tired working will walk quietly away. Perhaps the most complete farce ever enacted is the conviction and escape of these train riders.

A Country Wedding.

Mr. Reynold McKee and Miss Sadie Gray were at noon today united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents four miles west of this place. A number of Wellsville people attended the wedding. The happy young couple start in life with cloudless skies.

Personal.

Miss Margaret Neel and Miss Mattie McQueen are in Springfield attending the state endeavor convention.

Misses Beryl and Nellie Dennis will leave in a few days for a visit with friends in Alliance.

Miss Jennie Anderson Dead.

Miss Jennie Anderson died at her home on First street this morning after a long illness from consumption. Funeral services will be held on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Becoming a Fad.

President Marshall, of the city council, is not in love with damage suits against the city. After hearing the result of the Martin case, in which the street railway won yesterday because the plaintiffs trespassed in walking on the East End trestle, he said:

"That is just what should be done in a majority of those suits against the city for damages. This thing of suing the city has become a fad, and everybody with a grievance rushes in with a claim for cash. There are too many suits against the city without cause."

Take Out the Telephone.

Manager Swaney this morning took the telephone from the office of the People, and that paper will hereafter be compelled to get along as best it can without the service, so long indispensable in a newspaper office.

A Small Suit.

William Hughes entered suit in Squire Mnales court today against William Bailey, asking judgment for $10 claimed due on a board bill. The trial is set for Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

Waterproof collars and cuffs that will not wilt, are not effected by moisture and look just like linen are all the fashion now. They are made by covering a linen collar or cuff with "celluloid" and are the only waterproof goods made with an interlining, consequently the only ones that will stand wear and give perfect satisfaction. Try them and you will never regret it. Always neat, and easily cleaned. When soiled simply wipe off with a wet cloth or sponge. Every piece of the genuine is stamped as follows:

Ask for those so marked and refuse any imitations, as they cannot possibly please you. If your dealer does not keep them, we will send a sample direct on receipt of price. Collars 25c. each. Cuffs 50c. pair. State size and whether stand-up or turned-down collar is wanted.

THE CELLULOID COMPANY, 427-429 Broadway, New York.

A DEAD SNAKE

Caused the Friends of a Young Potter to Laugh.

They tell a good story on a well known young potter of the city who went buggy riding with his girl yesterday in West Virginia. They saw a snake in the road, and the girl smiled with pleasure as her bold sweetheart got out to kill it. But the smile faded from her face as she watched him cautiously approach with a big club, and circle around the snake again and again. At length she wearied of the performance, and climbing down out of the buggy ran to his assistance. When she arrived at the spot she gazed earnestly for a moment, and then burst into a peal of merry laughter, while the strong man sank back abashed, for the snake was dead.

CARE FOR THE COWS.

Another Field In Which the Humane Society Can Work.

The Humane society can find a field for work in the number of thin and decrepit cows scattered through the city if it will but move in that direction. A cow was seen on Washington street last night, a fit subject for pity. Great, gaunt sides were almost hidden in a view from the rear by the bones which hung out from the frame like sails on a ship. Every rib was discernible through the skin, and the head seemed like a keg fastened to the body by a slender stick. If that isn't work for the Humane society they had best go out of business.

BOUND TO COURT.

Mrs. Mountford Waived a Hearing Last Night.

Mrs. Mountford was before Squire Rose last night, answering the charge of tearing down the fence of Mrs. Burroughs in California Hollow, but made no defense. She waived a hearing, and the case went to court, the bail being fixed at $100, which will be signed by Councilman Peake. "It is a funny thing," remarked a well known citizen as he heard the case, "why people cannot live in peace and harmony together. Look at this case. Two women are quarreling, one is under bond, when they might just as well be good friends and neighbors."

NEW OFFICERS.

Daughters of America to Install Next Tuesday Night.

The Daughters of America will, at their next regular meeting, Tuesday night, install the following officers: Councilor, Katie Baxter; associate, Mrs. Cramer; vice, Homer Owen; secretary, George Morgan; recording secretary, Ada Bennett; financial, Mrs. M. B. Lowry; treasurer, Katie Baxter; conductor, Ella Baxter; warden, Joseph Mills; junior past, Anna English; associate, Mrs. Wells. Mrs. Cramer is delegate to the state council and Mrs. Lowry alternate.

Councilman Peake

Wants that Waterloo road improved, and as a reminder to the present administration, signifies that the taxpayers along the route paid $143.50 on Oct. 24, 1888. Part of the improvements were made and the remainder neglected. The property holders along the line in question owe the city but $11, and they stand ready to pay this as soon as the present city dads show an inclination to give them their just rights.

—Mrs. J. G. Lee and daughter, Miss Nina, left last evening for a visit with friends in Salem. Mr. Lee accompanied them a part of the distance on his way to Pittsburg.

Changed the Date.

At a meeting of the committee having the Spring Grove lawn fete in charge it was decided last night to conduct it on July 3 in the evening. All who desire to sing will report to C. E. Macrum, who has been given charge of the music, at the pulpit in the circle at 8 o'clock this evening. The fete will open with a base ball game, and a regular program will be passed through.

A Bullet in His Leg.

The son of Benjamin Hodgson was shot in the leg on West Market street today, and the bullet is still in him. He had an old rusty revolver, and was playing with several other boys when the weapon was discharged. No serious complications are expected unless the bullet lodged in his knee, it having taken a downward course.

No Games For Money.

"We wish you would take away the impression from the public mind that we want to play ball for money," said a member of the Burford pottery ball club today. "A paper has been saying we want to play for various amounts, but we don't. We play ball for fun."

For the Army.

Thomas Webb left this morning for Gallon, where he will be joined by five or six others, all members of the different divisions of the Salvation Army. They will take a trip around the country in the interests of the Army.
